THURSDAY MORNING MAR [illegible] 1864

By Telegraph.

Our dispatches this morning give later intelligence than that brought by the steamer

The battle in Florida seems according to report, to have been disastrous to the Union force, which was suddenly and unexpectedly exposed to a rebel battery, heavy slaughter and panic compelled the Federal troops to retreat with deplorable loss, several officers being killed or wounded

Two more California towns, Downieville and Clayton, have been visited by severe conflagrations, which destroyed an immense amount of property

Maintain the Public Schools—The School Superintendent of Alameda county California, in his late report makes the following point, which is worthy of universal attention

I suppose every believer in popular Government will admit the truth of this proposition It is the right and duty of the State to [illegible] to its own life in the best and cheapest manner This proposition being admitted, there is another just as plain and simple It is that good [illegible] best and strongest [illegible] If there is any doubt on this point we need only to open our eyes upon our country Why is the North loyal and the South disloyal? Simply because at the North the State has propagated its life through the public school while at the South it has not. If you point to the mobs and the Copperheads at the North you do but strengthen the argument For I suppose it is a notorious fact, that in a great many instances at least Gov Seymour's friends have X for a middle name

There is a vast amount of truth in these suggestions Free schools and slavery cannot exist together If the South had been thoroughly educated, its peculiar institution would long ago have shrivelled and dried up under the influence of enlightened intelligence It despised free education, and its barbarism has driven it into war Patriotism was scarcely known in a community, the large majority of which cannot read or write

The Negro Troops—An officer in General Wild's command, giving an account of a recent expedition against a band of guerillas says "it was the first of any magnitude undertaken by negro troops since their enlistment was authorized by Congress, and by the question of their efficiency in any branch of the service has been practically set at rest Thoroughly obedient to their officers, during a march of 300 miles their conduct on every occasion was truly admirable One incident in this connection, coming within my own experience may be properly related here On the morning after the fight at Sandy Hook, when General Wild had determined to return and attack the guerilla camp, the men were drawn up in line to be reviewed, and all who wished to remain behind were asked to step out Only 25—and those foot sore and lame—did so I was instructed by the General to find 100 for the camp guard, and went down the line endeavoring to persuade more to volunteer, telling them there would be a big fight—the guerillas would have them at great advantage down in the swamp—they lost a number of men yesterday, and would lose a great many more today, and that they had better remain behind and help to take care of the camp, where it would be perfectly safe, with little to do I got but one man out of five hundred, all the rest replying, 'No, no, I want to fight the guerillas.'"

The Correct Policy—The San Francisco Journal, which while it has a blunt way of saying what it pleases,—no matter what may be hit—thus frankly and honestly defines its position on the "policy" question, in reply to some "Friend" who did not like its plain talk We concur most decidedly, in the Journal's doctrines and intend to do just so in our own sphere

"We will state that very early in our history, we learned that honesty was the best policy—that truth told was better far better than truth concealed, especially when concealment might lead an individual or community into trouble. We confess, to "Friend" that we have no policy but to write the plain unvarnished truth. We expect it will be unpalatable to our enemies and it may be extremely unpleasant to some of our friends We say no harsh or unkind things for the purpose of wounding the feelings of friends, but rather as a duty This word 'policy' when it conflicts with principle we abhor—we know no policy so good as that based upon principle and truth, and so long as we conduct the Journal, principle not policy shall be our polar star."

Another Union Paper—We have received the prospectus of the Oregon State Journal, the regular publication of which is to begin on the 12th inst, at Eugene City The proprietors are practical printers, and ought, from their experience to know how to succeed We hope they will do so, and especially that their labors in behalf of political truth and patriotism may yield abundant fruit

Speech of Senator Nesmith—We have received a copy of the remarks made by Mr Nesmith in the Senate, on the proposition to strike out the "commutation" provision in the conscription act, and as it will be of interest to many of our readers, we will publish it as soon as room can be given to it

Not Bad—The Walla Walla Statesman thinks the joyful demonstrations in Lewiston at the news of the appointment of the new Governor, prove that the people were glad to get Daniel out of the Lyon's den

Married by Nature—The Gold Hill, N T, News is responsible for the following

A colored woman named Lucy Brown was testifying before the Coroner lately, when she stated that she was married to Brown but "not by any man" "How then" asked the astonished magistrate "By nature and God Almighty—for four months!" replied the fair Lucy

Butler Literature—The General to the [illegible] Perfectionists—In Norfolk there is a society called "Perfectionists" and in their behalf some 10 or 12 [illegible] lately addressed a letter to the commanding general of that department, setting forth their objections to swearing allegiance to any earthly government The subject was disposed of by General Butler in the following characteristic manner

Headquarters [illegible]
January [illegible] 1864

[illegible]—I have read your [illegible] setting forth your [illegible] taking the oath of allegiance to any earthly Government [illegible]

The first reason which you set forth [illegible] human Governments [illegible] until the time arrives for the establishment [illegible] which all others will be subdued [illegible] fulfilling [illegible] the 8th of [illegible]

You therein establish [illegible] your own satisfaction three points First—The Government, although evil is a necessary one Second—[illegible] permitted to exist by the will of [illegible] Third—that the time at which a perfect [illegible] to its existence is not come [illegible]

Therefore [illegible] ought to swear allegiance to the [illegible] United States [illegible] First—[illegible] though an evil, you admit it to be necessary [illegible]

[illegible] the wisdom of [illegible] and that it is not [illegible] His creature to question the wisdom of His [illegible] Third—You only claim to be excused when [illegible] this government is substituted, which [illegible] has not yet arrived

Your obedient servant [illegible] F Butler

Our Losses During the War—The following table, compiled from the report of General Halleck shows at a glance our losses at Fredericksburg, [illegible] in the various battles of note during the campaign just closed

	Killed	Wounded	Missing
Fredericksburg	1138	9105	[illegible]
Chancellorsville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Gettysburg	2834	137	6143
Bristoe Station	51	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ford Hudson	201	800	[illegible]
Chickasaw Bayou	191	98	760
Arkansas Post	129	8[illegible]	1
[illegible] Gibson	1[illegible]	718	[illegible]
Fourteen Mile Creek (skirmish)	4	4
Raymond	[illegible]	341	3
Jackson	40	240	6
Champion Hill	426	1842	[illegible]
Big Black River Bridge	29	241	[illegible]
Vicksburg	45	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	17	798	183
Stone River	1533	7245	2609
Chickamauga	1641	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bridgeport	70	325	[illegible]

From this it will be seen that of all our large battles by far the most costly and bloody was that at Gettysburg—the loss being nearly twice as large as that of any other battle and larger than that of all the battles before Vicksburg Singular enough the loss at Chancellorsville is not known in official circles but it is probably not less than that of Fredericksburg or Stone River Our entire losses in killed and missing from Fredericksburg to Chattanooga foot up to the figure of about one hundred and thirty five thousand men exclusive of disability from disease —Times

Astoria, February 29th, 1864.

Editor Oregonian

An episode occurred in connection with the departure of the Sierra Nevada for San Francisco from this port on Sunday, the 28th inst worth noticing The vessel "cleared all right," and put to sea about 10 o'clock, A M At about 4 o'clock, P M, she steamed up in front of the town to the no little astonishment of the quiet denizens of Astoria One whispered, "she's chased back by a blockader or a pirate,"—another something else &c, &c A boat came ashore in great haste The chief personage of the boat jumped ashore, put for the Custom House, and returned a minute after and put for the steamer again In a few minutes the steamer "blew three whistles" and off she went I watched her until she was close down to the bar when darkness closed in, and I could not tell whether she crossed that evening or not I presume she did

It leaked out soon, that out at sea, on looking over their clearance papers, the officer came to the conclusion that they were minus an important document required from the Custom House So they came back for it But the Custom House officer assured him who landed so hastily from the small boat, that he took all the necessary papers with him on clearing A little explanation satisfied him of the fact The steamer lost six or eight hours run at sea Yours, &c

A New Governor for Idaho—The telegraph has apprised the people of Idaho that they have a Governor, in place of Governor Wallace, who tendered his resignation on hearing that he had been elected a delegate to Congress The appointee is the Hon Caleb Lyon, of Lyonsdale N Y an ex member of Congress, and a gentleman reported to possess talent and competency to fill the position with credit to both the Territory and himself This action of the Administration seems to have dampened the ardor of other aspirants for the position and the ardor of none more than that of the Acting Governor, who is the Secretary of the Territory It is known to many that at the beginning of the late session of the Legislature, very extraordinary efforts were made to induce members much against their inclination, to sign fulsome petitions in favor of certain gentlemen as proper candidates for the position One of these petitions was signed by several members in favor of Acting Governor Daniels, after much urging Had the same paper been presented to the members near the close of the session, after his peculiar fitness or unfitness had become known, it is quite probable that but a very few names would have been subscribed His peculiarities, as developed during the session to the members, fully apprised them of the great mistake they had made in recommending him for the position Time and proper occasions will detail some of these peculiarities

On the receipt of the news of the appointment of Mr Lyon, the citizens of Lewiston celebrated the occasion by a magnificent bonfire and the firing of two hundred guns, and a scene of general hilarity and rejoicing It is said that in some quarters this demonstration was not sound[illegible] But the people thought it sounded well and though some may think it was treason, yet they made the most of it

We want a Governor who has both dignity and honesty and one who can command the respect of all classes of our people Such a man can make us respected both at home and abroad, and inspire confidence in our Government, and we sincerely trust that Mr Lyon will prove himself that man and we humbly hope that his presence among us will not long be delayed —Golden Age

An Arkansas Planter's Opinion of the Nigger Question—A planter who came to Little Rock, Arkansas to get arms for Union home guards on White river, gave his ideas of the great question of the day as follows

"The nigger business is done up and there's no use talking about it It don't make no odds how good a Union man one may be he'd lose his niggers Ever since the war commenced Old Abe has been turning the screws down on us—first a little turn and then another we don't hardly feel it but he keeps a turning of his screw and now it's got to be mighty tight

Over thar in Missouri the Union men thought they were going to come out all right but the screws have come down on 'em so snug they had to do something—and they done it but twant no use down come the screw again, and you see where they are. That keeping in Fell field was for nothing, but to take another turn on the screw Now thar's old Kentuck she feels as if she was on the top o' the heap and she's been a braggin what she's done But you wait a spell and you'll see the biggest kind of screw turned down on her and if she don't walk the chalk, she'll have her insides squeezed out Thar's no use o' talking, the thing's all fixed, and I wouldn't give a dime for the best nigger you can find"

New York Feb 25—By arrival of the [illegible] from Port Royal Feb 24th [illegible] has [illegible] tion of a serious reverse to the Florida expedition On the afternoon of the 20th our troops met the enemy 15,000 strong 15 miles beyond Jacksonville and 8 miles beyond Sanderson on the line of the Jacksonville and Tallahassee Railroad A desperate engagement ensued lasting three hours when our forces at sunset retired to Sanderson taking with them nearly all their wounded Col Fribley of the 8th U S Infantry was left dead on the field Col Reed and several other officers were mortally wounded All the officers of Hamilton's battery were wounded

The steamer Constitution arrived at Beaufort on the 22d with 240 wounded Col Reed among the number who was living when the Fulton left The enemy's loss is unknown They captured 5 guns It is supposed the troops were from Bragg's army Hardee was himself on the field having come to Florida on a visit to his family Our loss is estimated at from 500 to 1,500

Successful Indian Campaign—Capt Curry's command returned from the Pellouse on Tuesday They found the Indians encamped 40 miles above the mouth of the Pellouse and on their approach the Indians remained in their tents The Cavalry surrounded them, and the Captain ordered the Indians to "come out," and on their failing to comply he ordered his men to fire upon the tents The first volley brought the red skins from under cover They came out and folded their arms as a sign of surrender One Indian was killed by the firing After a short pow wow three of the Indians—two of them a Chief—the principals in the act of burning the miners cabin were taken prisoners and brought to the post where they will be tried in some form Whether others would have done differently or not in the matter of firing upon the tents, all experience with Indians has proven that a little "summary justice" of this kind, occasionally administered results much more beneficially to them and the whites than all the [illegible] and blanket trades that could be made with them This band of Indians, composed of deserters from the reservations and outlaws from all the surrounding tribes, has been committing depredations upon the whites for the past seven or eight years and we predict that they will hereafter think twice before attempting another raid upon the whites.—Walla Walla Statesman

The Unknown Murdered Brothers—It appears from statements made by the prisoners—Howard, Romain and Lowe—that two of the murdered men of the Magruder party were brothers, and had lived in Boonville, Missouri, where they had been druggists. They say the relatives of the young men lived ten or twelve miles from Boonville They have forgotten the names of the brothers. They say they were fair complected, light haired, high cheek boned about twenty eight to thirty years of age, and of medium size They further state that the young men left their homes at Boonville after the beginning of the domestic troubles in Missouri in 1861, and went to Colorado Territory, and from there to the Stinking Water mines in this Territory All the information they imparted on this subject they learned from the brothers themselves, while travelling with them during the trip on which they were killed We make this statement with the hope that it may be seen by friends of the deceased, that the hard fate of the murdered brothers may be known, and that anxiety and suspense concerning them may be at an end —Golden Age

A General officer, who arrived here yesterday states that the object of Gen Sherman's expedition is not to attack Mobile, but to capture Selma, which is the most important manufacturing point for cannon and small arms in the Confederacy He designs, also to destroy all the railroad communication with Mobile, and with the navigable waters by which supplies and reinforcements can be forwarded to it After the capture of Selma, Sherman's movements are discretionary, and as he cannot procure forage sufficient to maintain himself while besieging Mobile, it is scarcely probable that he will make any real demonstration against that city

Whereas, The Common Council has learned with feelings of profound sorrow of the demise of Thomas L Watson who departed this life on Monday the 29th of February 1864 and

Whereas In this dispensation of Divine Providence [illegible] we are called upon to mourn the loss of one [illegible] a few short [illegible] reminded of the dread uncertainty of all things [illegible] man and are [illegible] admonished to acknowledge our total dependence upon Him [illegible] and mercy [illegible]

Whereas It is but a proper recognition of the public services and position of the deceased as Councilman of the Second Ward that the members of this Board should public[illegible] expression to the [illegible] the announcement of his decease [illegible] that suitable action should be taken to give expression to their feelings and the feelings of those whom they represent therefore be it

[illegible] Business—A wagon loaded with wood was stalled in the mud last evening, at the corner of Third and Washington streets and left standing alone, with the pole crossing the side walk After dark it became a beautiful trap, to trip people [illegible] and sundry persons were "rolled" on account of it The trap finally caught a lady, and then the Marshal was summoned to remove the nuisance As the wagon was immovable the pole was taken out Such carelessness is unwarrantable

Deceitful—All the dodges weather can be guilty of performing in one day we think "got off" in this vicinity yesterday The manner of luring people abroad, without umbrella or overcoat, by the shining rays of [illegible], as brilliant and splendid as ever was produced in May, and then turning suddenly upon them with gusts of rain, hail and snow, is quite enough to provoke the mildest temper, unaided by any other agency Oh, deceitful March, we can give Spring no credit for your beginning

Fireman's Funeral—Notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a very large attendance yesterday at the funeral of Mr Watson The procession was headed by the Mechanics Brass Band, and was composed of the Mayor, City officers, Members of the Common Council, Columbian Engine Co, of which deceased was a member, Chief Engineer and his Assistants, and a delegation from each of the other Fire Companies of the city.

Shocking to the Senses—Our attention has been called to the shameful condition of the streets, in the vicinity of the Portland Steam Saw Mill It is actually sickening, and how people can stand the stench, is more than we can tell We refer the case to the Street Commissioner

The scholars of St Mary's Academy will give a concert of vocal and instrumental music this evening They are capable of giving such entertainment, and undoubtedly will do one

MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.—The Council met last evening. A full board was in attendance—President Sutton in the chair.

On motion, the rules were suspended, and the Committee, appointed to draft resolutions in memory of the death of T. L. Watson, reported the following, which were adopted, and ordered to be published:

Whereas, The Common Council has learned with feelings of deep sorrow of the demise of Thomas L. Watson, who departed this life on Monday, the 29th of February, 1864; and

Whereas, It is the disposition of Divine Providence, by which we are called upon to mourn the loss of one who but a few short days since was of us and among us, we are forcibly reminded of the dread uncertainty of all things, and are fearfully admonished to acknowledge our dependence upon Him, who in his wisdom and mercy, "doeth all things well;" and

Whereas, It is but a proper recognition of the public services and position of the deceased, as Councilman of the Second Ward, that the members of this Board should publicly express to the unfeigned regret with which the announcement of this decease has been received, and the suitable action should be taken to give expression to their feelings and the feelings of those whom they represent; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Common Council chamber be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days, out of respect for the memory of the deceased.

Resolved, That the Common Council do deeply and feelingly sympathize with the afflicted family of the deceased in their bereavement, and asks to be permitted to share their sorrow and affliction, and condole with them in their desolation, hoping to assist in assuaging the poignancy of their distress, by reminding them of the promise made by Him without whose knowledge not even a sparrow falleth to the ground, "that He will be a father to the fatherless, and a comforter to the afflicted."

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Common Council be directed to engross a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions, and have the same transmitted to the family of the deceased, and that the same be published.

AL. ZIEBER,
ALEX. DODGE,
Committee.

The Council adjourned until this evening at 7 o'clock.

WATER RATES.—The Portland Water Company have adopted stringent rules and regulations, to govern them in their business from this hence, and published them in pamphlet form, together with the rates of furnishing water. According to their pamphlet no person or family is allowed to give or receive water from any other than their own service pipe, and to use water for no other purposes than those stated in their application. No hose can be used for sprinkling streets, except by special contract, and for washing windows, or sidewalks, or for irrigation, the time is restricted to the hours between five and eight o'clock in the morning. In the case of fire there are some extra privileges granted. No person is permitted for fountains, upon premises where it is not supplied for other purposes, and then for not more than three hours per day, and for only four months in the year. Terms for water used in building purposes, are specified by the perch of stone, thousand of brick, or cask of lime or cement used. The Company reserve the right whenever the wants of the city for domestic consumption demand it, to cut off the supply to manufacturers and other large consumers.

PRIMARY MEETINGS.—The Union men of the north precinct of this city, will meet at the Court House, and those of the south precinct will meet at the Council Chamber to day, at one o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing delegates for the County Convention, and transacting such other business as may come before their respective meetings. All Union men who have opinions and preferences which they wish made influential, should not fail to vote to-day. It is their only way to give expression to their wishes, and if they neglected, they may find themselves classed as partisans to elect some one, who by no means a representative of their choice. Stand then, all true Union men, and be sure of first principles and primary elements, for these govern all the rest.

THE CELEBRATION.—A meeting of the Foremen of the different Fire Companies, Captains of Military Companies, and citizens generally, was held at the Pioneer Hotel last evening, to take measures and organize for a celebration on the completion of the telegraph. The following gentlemen were appointed a Committee of arrangements, to make preparations for the celebration: Capt. E. G. [illegible], W. H. Weed, Col. Jno. McCraken, [illegible] Hallock, Capt. Charles Mills, Thos. [illegible] Hendrie, E. W. McGraw, Jno. W. [illegible], S. N. Arrigoni, A. Starr, R. J. Ladd, [illegible] Hodge, J. Buchtel. A committee on [illegible] was also appointed, and the meeting adjourned, to meet again this evening.

A CARELESS PIECE OF BUSINESS.—A wagon load of wood was stalled in the mud last evening, at the corner of Third and Washington streets, and left standing alone, with the pole crossing the side-walk. After dark it became a beautiful trap, to trip people up, and sundry persons were "rolled" on account of it. The trap finally caught a lady, and then the Marshal was summoned to remove the nuisance. As the wagon was immovable, the pole was taken out. Such carelessness is unwarrantable.

DECEITFUL.—All the dodges weather can be guilty of performing in one day, we think "got off" in this vicinity yesterday. The way of luring people abroad, without an umbrella or overcoat, by the shining rays of a sun, as brilliant and splendid as ever was witnessed in May, and then turning suddenly upon them with gusts of rain, hail and snow, was quite enough to provoke the mildest temper, unaided by any other agency. Oh, deceitful March, we can give Spring no credit for your beginning.

FIREMAN'S FUNERAL.—Notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a very large attendance yesterday at the funeral of Mr. [illegible]son. The procession was headed by the Mechanics' Brass Band, and was composed of the Mayor, City officers, Members of the Common Council, Columbian Engine Co., of which deceased was a member, Chief Engineer and his Assistants, and a delegation from each of the other Fire Companies of the city.

SHOCKING TO THE SENSES.—Our attention has been called to the shameful condition of the streets, in the vicinity of the Portland Steam Saw Mill. It is actually sickening, and how people can stand the stench, is more than we can tell. We refer the case to the Street Commissioner.

THE scholars of St. Mary's Academy will give a concert of vocal and instrumental music this evening. They are capable of giving a rich entertainment, and undoubtedly will give one.

TREASURE.—Mr. Mills informed us that the express from the Dalles last evening brought $[illegible],000 in Treasure. We received papers from as far up country as Boise, for which we thank Wells, Fargo & Co.

ARRIVAL OF THE BROTHER JONATHAN.—The steamship Brother Jonathan, S. J. DeWolf commanding, from San Francisco, February 28th, arrived at two o'clock this morning. She brings the following passengers:

ARRIVED.—The bark Helen W. Almy left San Francisco on the 13th of February, for this port. She lay off Columbia Bar seven days before crossing—and arrived in tow of the Couch, from Astoria yesterday. Captain Freeman furnishes us the following manifest of his bark's cargo:

John West 55, Hodge & Calef 135, Smith & Davis 143, O S N Co 362, Rounee Bros 18, Willamette Woolen Co 1, [illegible] M A Co 512, Richards & McCraken 130, Hurgren & Shindler 16, Wed Bros 17, M Seller & Co 16, Levy, [illegible] J McHenry 15, A Cohn & Co 75, [illegible] Goodwin & Co, J H 116, Muller 2, H W Corbett 121, C J Northrup & Co 45, W S D 2, Allen & Lewis 611, J Seller & Co 104, Camp & Co 28, B A Co 88, R A Shaw 13, Failing & Hatt 50, [illegible] Eliott 308, V A B 24, Willamette Steam Navigation Co 2, Elfelt, Wiel & Co 10, Harker Bros 441, K H & Co 22, D B B 67, E L & Co 19, H Wasserman & Co 2, W H [illegible], J B Gadler 134, E G H 152, J E 161, F & G 113, [illegible], Fitzpatrick 14, Diamond F 97, F 58.

THE THEATRE.—It has become one of the features of this city to have a Theatre, and of course a notice of the plays is expected as a matter of interest transpiring among other things. Last evening the play of "Court and Stage" was performed, and we think rather more intelligible to all, than on previous occasions in this city. Mr. J. H. Taylor's Duke of Richmond was well rendered, and we feel quite certain he is entitled to all the credit he has received for being a splendid tragedian. Miss Howard, as Frances Stewart, acted with becoming good taste. Miss Morgan elicited some praise for the agreeable manner in which her part was rendered. To-night a dashing comedy entitled "North O'Connor, the Irish Heiress," will be offered.

Perils of the Alps.

The Saturday Review (London) gives this thrilling narrative of the rescue from destruction of an Alpine guide who had fallen into a deep crevasse of a glacier:

We were soon beside a wide and jagged cleft which resembled a kind of case more than an ordinary fissure. This cleft had been spanned by a snow bridge, now broken, and up to the edge of which human footsteps could be traced. The glacier here was considerably torn, but simple patience was the only thing needed to unravel its complexity. This quality our porter lacked, and hoping to make shorter work of it, he attempted to cross the bridge. It gave way, and he went down, carrying an immense load of debris along with him. We looked into the hole, at one end of which the vision was cut short by darkness, while immediately under the broken arch it was crammed with snow and shattered icicles. We saw nothing more. We listened with strained attention, and from the depths of the glacier, a low moan seemed to issue. Its repetition assured us that it was no delusion—the man was still alive. B. from the first had been extremely excited; and his education as a Roman Catholic, by furnishing him with saints and angels to appeal to, augmented his emotion. When he heard the moaning, he became almost frantic. He attempted to get into the crevasse, but was obliged to recoil. It was quite plain that a second life was in danger, for our guide seemed to have lost all self-control. A hand was placed heavily upon his shoulder, and he was admonished that upon his coolness depended the life of his friend. "If you behave like a man, we shall save him; if like a woman, he is lost." A first rate rope accompanied the party, but unhappily it was with the man in the crevasse.

"Take off coats, waistcoats and braces." They were instantly taken off and knotted together. We watched B. while this work was going on; his hands trembled with excitement and his knots were evidently insecure. The last junction complete, he exclaimed, "Now, let me down!" "Not until each one of these knots has been tested; not an inch!" Two of them gave way, and L.'s waistcoat also proved too tender for the strain. The debris was about forty feet from the surface of the glacier, but two prominences afforded a kind of footing. B. was dropped down to one of these; T. followed, being let down by L.; he could not trust the porter overhead. B. then descended the remaining distance, and was duly followed by T. More could not find room.

The shape and size of the cavity were such as to produce a kind of resonance, which rendered it difficult to strike the precise spot from which the sound issued; but the moaning continued, becoming to all appearance gradually feebler. Fearing to wound the man, the debris was cautiously rooted away. It rang curiously as it fell into the adjacent gloom. A layer two or three feet thick was thus removed; and finally, from the frozen mass, and so bloodless as to be almost as white as the surrounding snow, issued a single human hand. The fingers moved. Round it we rooted and soon reached the knapsack, which we cut away. With it we regained our rope. The man's head was laid bare, and our brandy flask was immediately at his lips. He tried to speak, but was inarticulate, his words jumbling themselves to a dull moan. B.'s feelings got the better of him at intervals; he wrought like a hero, but at times needed guidance and stern admonition. The arms once free we passed the rope underneath them, and sought to draw the man out. But the ice fragments round him had congealed so as to form a solid case. Thrice we essayed to draw him, thrice we failed; he had literally to be hewn out of the ice, and not until his last foot was extricated, were we able to lift him. L. and the porter pulling above, and we pushing him up below, the man was raised to the light of day. L. then drew his friend out of the pit, and B. followed. For an hour we had been in the crevasse in shirt sleeves—the porter had been in it for two hours, and the dripping ice had drenched us. B. moreover, had worked with the energy of madness, and now the reaction came. He shook as if he would fall to pieces; but brandy and some covering revived him.

The rescued man was helpless, unable to stand, unable to utter an articulate sentence. B. proposed to carry him down the glacier toward home. Had this been attempted, the man would have indubitably died upon the ice. B. thought he could carry him for two hours; but he underrated his own exhaustion and overrated the vitality of his friend. "It cannot be thought of—to the cave of Faulberg where we must tend him as well as we can." We got him to the side of the glacier, and here B. took him on his back; in ten minutes he sank under his load. L. carried a miscellaneous burden. It was now our turn with the man, then again B.'s, and thus helping each other, we reached the mountain grot. The sun had set, and the crown of the Jungfrau was imbedded in amber light. Thinking that the Margelin See might be reached before darkness, we proposed starting in search of help. The good B. would not hear of it, and L.'s eye slightly glistened. It is surprising how such an occasion brings out a man's feeling. "God bless you, L., and now for the glacier." But the anxiety to get quickly clear of the crevasses defeated its own object. Thrice we found ourselves in difficulty, and the light was visibly departing. The conviction deepened that persistence would be folly, and the most impressive moment of our experience was that on which we stopped at the brink of a profound fissure and looked upon the mountains and the sky. The serenity was perfect—not a cloud, not a breeze, not a sound, while over the solemn west spread the last rays of sunset.

We returned; warm wine was given to our patient, and all our dry clothes were wrapped around him. Hot water bottles were placed at his feet and his back was briskly rubbed. He continued to groan a long time; but finally, both this and the trembling ceased. The anxious watcher, B., muttered "He is dead!" We leaned over his face and found him breathing gently; we felt his pulse—it was tranquilly beating. "Not dead, dear old B., he will be able to crawl home with the morning." The prediction was justified by the event; and two days afterwards we saw him at Laax, minus a bit of his ear, with a bruise upon his cheek and a few scars upon his head; but without a broken bone or serious injury of any kind. The self-denying manner in which the second porter spent the night made us forget his stupidity—it may have been stupefaction. If we were to draw a moral from this incident, it would be, that disasters in the Alps are far more likely to occur in ordinary places, than in more perilous ones where the faculties are all alive, and care is impressed by the certain and manifest consequences of its neglect.

AGASSIZ.—Professor Agassiz, in a late lecture in Springfield, Massachusetts, said:—"Boys and girls, men and women, should be less cloistered. They should be associated in the school, on the farm, and in the shop. Their influences should be pure and healthful, and thus would the race attain more perfect development. Society will then be put on a higher foundation."

We love women all the better for their weakness. Those strong minded women always seem as if they wanted to be men, and could not.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES'S AUTOGRAPH CONTRIBUTED TO THE CINCINNATI FAIR.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, in response to a letter, has written the following to Mr. McLaughlin, Chairman of the Autograph Committee:

Boston, Dec. 14, 1863.

DEAR SIR: You ask me for a list of questions in Natural History, with answers subjoined, for the use of the instructor. I submit a few, which I think will serve your purpose for the proposed examination of the scientific class:

1. What animal produces one of its own parents?

Answer. The beaver, which is well known to construct its own dam.

2. Is the Dodo extinct?

Answer. It is not, as shown by the following bill in my possession:

Mr. [illegible] to X. Dr.
One Mongrel Goose [illegible]
One Do do [illegible]

3. What is the largest quadruped?

Answer. The mule of the Adrian.

4. What is the lightest quadruped?

Answer. The lynx. The lynx weighs less than an ounce.

5. When does a horse stand on six legs?

Answer. When he stands on his fore legs and his two hind legs also.

6. What other insect is the bee afraid of?

Answer. The beetle—(scare a-bee-us.)

7. Is the Otter of Roses obtained from that animal when fed on other vegetables—cabbages for instance?

Answer. Probably. The musk deer furnishes his perfume when fed on water melons.

8. What instance can you give of the cunning of serpents?

Answer. The simple fact that they secrete their venom where they can find it when wanted.

9. Why do the above questions amuse you more than the answers?

Answer. Because the person who asks the question is the querist.

As to the other questions about which you ask my opinion, my answer must be brief.

Eighteen hours' study out of the twenty-four is too much, I think, for delicate young persons. It does not allow sufficient time for sleep, recreation and meals.

I doubt about the introduction of capital punishment as a part of the ordinary college discipline. It will have a good effect on the survivors, no doubt.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES."

A GOOD RECOMMEND. — When Rev. Mr. Humphrey (now Major Humphrey) went to Col. Brackett, in Chicago, for authority to raise a cavalry company, he was asked by the colonel if he had references. This puzzled the parson a little, for it just occurred to him that he was away from home, but reflecting a moment, he remembered "Old Joe Knox" was practicing law in the city, and referred the colonel to him.

He was told by the colonel to return in a few hours, and a reply would be given.

In the meantime Colonel Brackett saw Joe Knox, and made inquiries as to the character and standing of the parson.

"Do you know Mr. Humphrey, or Genesee, Mr. Knox?"

"What, Minister Humphrey, the Methodist preacher, colonel?"

"The same, sir."

"Yes."

"Know him like a psalm book, sir."

"Well, what kind of a man is he?"

"Parson Humphrey will preach like Paul, pray like Stephen, and fight like h–ll and d——n, sir!"

"All right."

At the expiration of two hours Mr. Humphrey returned to the office of the colonel; as he stepped in, he was greeted with:

"There are your papers, Mr. Humphrey." And the parson left for Genesee with the papers in his pocket.

A HARD ONE ON NEW JERSEY.—On a terrible stormy night in bleak December, a United States vessel was wrecked off the coast of Jersey, and every person save one went down with the doomed craft. This one survivor (a Western gentleman) seized a floating spar, and was washed toward the shore, while the innumerable kind hearted tools of the Camden and Amboy Railroad clustered on the beach with ropes and boats. Slowly but surely the unhappy mariner drifted to land, and as he exhaustedly caught at the rope thrown to him, the kindly natives uttered an encouraging cheer. "You are saved," they shouted, "you are saved, and must show the conductor your ticket." With the boiling surf about him, and a floating straw tickling his nose, the drowning stranger suddenly resisted the efforts to haul him ashore. "Stop!" said he, in a faint tone. "Tell me where I am. What country is this?" And they answered: "New Jersey." Scarcely had the name been uttered, when the wretched stranger let go the rope, ejaculating as he did so: "I guess I'll float a little further!" He was never seen again.

THE MISSING SNUFFERS.—"I wonder what has become of the snuffers," said Mrs. Johnston. I have been looking for them all the evening, and can't find them high or low." Nobody could give any information. After awhile, her tired Dutchman of a husband, getting sleepy, commenced pulling off his boots, preparatory to going to bed. "All dis day," said he, "I tink I got some little grabble stones in my boot; I kess I got 'em now." He turned up his boot and poured out the snuffers.

Mrs. Fitzdrugon has long been waiting to visit Lone Mountain Cemetery, and the other day she said to her husband, "You have never yet taken me to the cemetery." "No, dear; that is a pleasure I have yet had only in anticipation."

BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL

AND

DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.

This Medicine increases the power of DIGESTION and excites the ABSORBENTS into healthy action, by which the WATERY or CALCAREOUS depositions, and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are reduced, as well as PAIN and INFLAMMATION, and is good for MEN, WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse,

ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

Indisposition to Exertion,	Loss of Power,

Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System,
Hot Hands,	Flushing of the Body,
Dryness of the Skin,	Eruptions on the Face,

Pallid Countenance.

These symptoms if allowed to go on, which this Medicine invariably removes, soon follows

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,

IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases,"

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION,"

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS.

THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS,

And the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion that

THE CONSTITUTION,

once affected by Organic Weakness,

Requires the Aid of Medicine, to strengthen and invigorate the system, which invariably does.

A Trial will Convince the most Skeptical.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS

Who have been the victims of Quacks

and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after marriage.

Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu

For all Affections and Diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE, from whatever cause originating, and

NO MATTER OF HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these Organs require the aid of a Diuretic.
